With $9.5 trillion in assets under custody and $1.4 trillion under management, State Street Corporation is a world leader in financial services. They combine an unwavering client focus with in-depth experience & leading-edge technology to offer an unrivalled breadth of products and services to the global investment community.

State Street, with over 19,000 employees in 25 countries moved into larger premises to accommodate their growth in South Africa.

Through a tender evaluation process, All Office was selected to supply the office furniture in a format previously not a standard to our industry.

With more affordable flat screen monitors the requirements of the "core" based workstation has changed.

Benchmark, a benching system from All Office has allowed a simple, efficient, cost effective alternative to maximising on space therefore saving on rental costs.

Mobile pedestals together with hinged door cupboards placed at the end of workstation rows was chosen for user's storage. All Office worked together with design firm Thinkspace to provide State Street a locally manufactured solution that would compliment their global look.

Attached low height screens with an accessory rail allow users to store paper off the work surface and can also be used to hang flat screen monitor arms from the screen.

The recently launched Mirra chair from Herman Miller was also selected by State Street offering their staff the ultimate in personal comfort.

Mirra features the one-piece TriFlex backrest with built-in flex zones, and FlexFront, an adjustable flexing front edge seat that allows the sitter to control seat depth. The geometric shapes in Mirra's back, and the chair's suspended mesh seat, provide custom contouring and prevent heat build-up by allowing air to circulate around the upper torso, thighs, and buttocks.

Mirra utilises an innovative combination of both passive and active seating adjustments to deliver natural performance and long-term comfort for a wide range of body types and postures.
